The card drop thing was corrected!

Nice to see a developer care about stuff. :)

Mind, I only got this for the cards, now I have to add a review? Will do after another look at the game. :). Game completed!. Not sure why people have reviewed this game negativity, my friend gave it to me as a christmas present and can honestly say i havent had more fun with any game since FNAF 4 came out, got a few trading cards and have more hours to come playing this amazing game.. Absolutely horrible.

This game can not be played by anyone having a screen bigger then 720p. Buttons are insanely small and the gameplay is ugly.

3/10. A complete waste of time. Do not even think of calling this garbage a game.. I bought this game with a 90%-off coupon. And since this game claims to be a Hardcore Tower Defense or whatnot, and I was a tower defense fan from years ago, I'm going to be frank with the review of this game. With the 90%-off coupon, I bought this game at the cost equivalent to three pieces of candy (in our currency, that is). Honestly speaking, I rather have the candies. If, by chance, I bought this without a coupon, that would be one meal.

As a previous TD fan, I believe this game is not good enough to be considered Hardcore, or some sort, as I think that there are a lot of aspects or factors that are missing, or not observable.

Played this only a few minutes, but I can already feel the disinterest.

Sorry for being direct, but I believe this game is not worth it. Despite that, thank you for the card drops. They help well.

To the developer (or developers, as the game has one creator, with two testers. I dig information before I review), I believe you can still do better than this.

To the other players, enjoy gaming!. I accidentally left it open when I slept. Can't refund it anymore.

0/12.7 Dont buy that game, open it up to get trading cards and sleep.. wow, i didn't know you can code with paint.. Really not the best game.. do yourself a favour and get bloons if you want to play a tower defence.

Best game ever!. I wouldn't call this a "game" It's an okay tower defense. Ground units, air units, and towers which can engage either of them. If there are some towers that can do more than

1) engaging ground units

2) engaging air units

3) slowing down both

they might appear later in the game and I don't know because I'm stuck at level 10. And the reason why I'm stuck here is the hardest boss enemy, the controls.

First, you need to be veeeeery careful how to place your towers because move the cursor just one pixel to far to the left or right and you end up building nothing. Sometimes it takes me 4-5 tries to build a tower.

But now at level 8 or so, sometimes it's totally impossible to build turrets because instead of showing me the possible building places when scrolling over the map, the towers start floating wildly over the 3D landscape, usually towards the camera, starting anew at the ground after a while but still floating like helium balloons all over the place.

So after minutes of carefully designed defense buildup, you end up just staring at your base getting destroyed with tons of resources available because you can't build any of the 10 towers you COULD if the game would allow it.

Nevermind the poor translation though, it's possible to understand.. That kind of game that you launch when you need to feel disgusted and throw up.. 10/10 FPS, If you havent played this masterpiece you are not a real gamer
